

An Expression A Day

AEAD PDF Book

No. 1-100 / 100 entries

Hilofumi Yamamoto, Ph.D.

Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International (CC BY 4.0)

Do It or You'll Miss Out

やらなきや^{そん}損！

yaranakya son!

You'll miss out if you don't do it!

Variants

- やらなきや^{そん}損！

You'll miss out if you don't do it!

- やらなければ^{そん}損！

If you don't do it, you'll miss out.

- やらないと^{そん}損！

You should do it, or you'll miss out.

Adjusted Expression

やらないと^{そん}損だ^{おも}と思います。

I think you'll miss out if you don't do it.

Example

A 「やらなきや^{そん}損！」 B 「そうだね」

A: You'll miss out if you don't do it! B: Yeah, that's true.

Notes

'Yaranakya son!' is a strong recommendation meaning that if you do not do it, you will miss a valuable chance or benefit. It does not simply say that something is necessary; it encourages the listener by framing not doing it as a loss or a waste.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

necessity profit and loss

strong recommendation assertion

Tags EN

immediate grammar

daily conversation

recommendation expression profit-and-loss expression

I'm Fed Up

もう、うんざり。

mou unzari.

I'm fed up already.

Variants

- もう、うんざり。
I'm fed up already.
- もう、うんざりだ。
I'm sick of it already.
- もう、うんざりです。
I've had enough already.

Adjusted Expression

もう、うんざりだ^{おも}と思います。

I think I'm fed up already.

Example

A 「もう、うんざり。」 B 「そうだね」

A: I'm fed up already. B: Yeah, I know.

Notes

'Mou unzari' is used when unpleasant things keep happening, or when the speaker can no longer put up with someone's behavior or a situation. It does not simply mean being tired; it includes the feeling of 'I cannot take this anymore.'

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

dissatisfaction

fatigue

sense of reaching one's limit assertion

Tags EN

immediate grammar

emotional expression

daily conversation

dissatisfaction expression limit expression

What a Farce

ちゃばんげき 茶番劇。 chabangeki.

What a farce.

Variants

- ^{ちゃばんげき}茶番劇だ。

What a farce.

- ^{いんちき}インチキだ。

It's a sham.

- ^{ちゃばん}とんだ茶番だ。

What a ridiculous farce.

Adjusted Expression

^{ちゃばんげき} ^{おも} 茶番劇だと思います。

I think it's a farce.

Example

A ^{ちゃばんげき}「茶番劇だ」 B 「そうだね」

A: What a farce. B: Yeah, I know.

Notes

'Chabangeki' means a farce. It is used not only when a situation is ridiculous, but also when it looks as if the script or conclusion has already been decided and people are merely acting it out. It carries a critical sense of staged insincerity, artificiality, and lack of seriousness.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

absurd situation

evaluation as ridiculous criticism of staged insincerity

Tags EN

immediate grammar

daily conversation

emotional expression

critical expression

staged-insincerity expression

You Have Potential

の^{しろ} 伸び代がある。

nobishiro ga aru.

There is room for growth.

Variants

- まだ上^{じょうたつ}達する。

There is room for growth.

- まだ成^{せいちょう}長する。

You can still improve.

- もっと上^{じょうず}手になる。

You can get better.

Adjusted Expression

の^{しろ} 伸び代があると思います。

I think there is room for growth.

Example

A 「この記^{きろく}録だったら、まだまだ伸び代^{のしろ}がある」 B 「そうだね」

A: With this record, there is still room for growth. B: Yeah, I know.

Notes

'Nobishiro ga aru' means that there is room for further growth or improvement. It can be used to encourage someone, but it also implies that the current state is not yet complete and can still be improved.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

potential for growth room for improvement encouragement

indirect evaluation

Tags EN

immediate grammar

daily conversation

encouraging expression

evaluation expression room-for-improvement expression

I Can't Handle Hot Food

ねこじた 猫舌。 nekojita.

I can't handle hot food or drinks.

Variants

- ^{あつ}熱いものは^{にがて}苦手だ。
I can't handle hot food.
- ^{すこ}少し^さ冷めてからでないと^{むり}無理だ。
I can't drink hot drinks.
- I need it to cool down first.

Adjusted Expression

^{あつ}熱いものは^{にがて}苦手だ^{おも}と思います。

I think I can't handle hot food or drinks.

Example

A 「^{ねこじた}猫舌だから、^{あつ}熱いのはちょっと」 B 「じゃ、^{あ い す}アイスにする？」

A: I can't handle hot things, so hot food is a bit... B: Then, how about something cold?

Notes

'Nekojita' means that someone has trouble eating or drinking things when they are hot. English does not usually have a single everyday word that directly corresponds to it, so it is often explained as "I can't handle hot food or drinks" or "I need it to cool down first."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- dislike hot food or drinks
- cannot comfortably eat or drink hot things
- prefer to avoid hot things
- self-explanation in a dining situation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- daily conversation
- food expression
- bodily-sensation expression
- self-explanation expression

Reservation

ご予約

Go-yoyaku reservation

Variants

- ご予約願います。

I would like to make a reservation.

- ご予約をお願いします。

I would like to make a reservation, please.

Adjusted Expression

ご予約をお願いします。

I would like to make a reservation, please.

Example

ほんじつ 予約 お客様のみの営業とさせていただきます。

Today, we are open only to customers with reservations.

Notes

"Honjitsu wa go-yoyaku no okyakusama nomi no eigyou to sasete itadakimasu" is a notice used in restaurants and similar settings to say that service is limited to customers with reservations. Some restaurants display this notice regularly. Even so, whether a walk-in customer who has come all the way to the restaurant is actually turned away may depend on the restaurant's practice and the situation at that moment.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- I want to make a reservation.
- I would like to make a reservation, please.
- I would like to make a reservation.

Tags EN

- expression
- daily conversation
- service industry expression

Taking the Best Parts

いいとこどり

Ii-toko-dori

taking only the best parts

Variants

- ^{とかい}都会と^{いなか}田舎のいいとこどり。

It takes the best parts of both city life and country life.

- ^{しごと}仕事のいいとこどりをする。

I take only the best parts of my job.

- この店は^{みせ}安いし、^{やす}美味しいし、^{おい}(いいとこどり)だね。

This restaurant is cheap, delicious, and it takes only the best parts.

Adjusted Expression

^{そうほう}双方の^{りてん}利点を^{どうじ}同時に^と取り入れ^いました。

I took the advantages of both at the same time.

Example

^{とかい}都会と^{いなか}田舎のいいとこどり。

It takes the best parts of both city life and country life.

Notes

This expression refers to taking or enjoying only the most favorable parts of something. It can be used positively, as in combining advantages, or critically, as in taking only what suits oneself.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

to take only the best parts to live a life that takes only the best parts

This restaurant takes only the best parts.

Tags EN

expression

daily conversation

praising expression

critical expression

No Verb, Still a Sentence

^{なか} お腹、いっぱい。

Onaka, ippai.

I'm full.

Variants

- もう、いっぱい。

I'm full already.

- ^た食べられない。

I can't eat any more.

Adjusted Expression

もうこれ^{いじょう}以上は^た食べられません。

I can't eat any more.

Example

^{なか} お腹、いっぱい。

I'm full.

Notes

"Onaka, ippai" consists of just two parts, "onaka" and "ippai," and yet it functions as a complete utterance. Even without a verb, it is understood as a full sentence in context, and Japanese has many expressions of this kind.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

I'm full.

I can't eat any more.

I'm full already.

Tags EN

expression

daily conversation

food expression

expression without verb

Don't Do That

するな！

Suru na!

Don't do that!

Variants

- やるな！
Don't do it!
- するなよ！
Don't do that, okay?
- やるなってば！
I said, don't do that!

Adjusted Expression

そのような行為は禁止されています。

Such behavior is prohibited.

Example

するな！

Don't do that!

Notes

'Suru na!' is a strong expression used to stop someone from doing something. It consists of 'suru' followed by the prohibitive particle 'na'. It sounds very direct and forceful, and in everyday conversation it can express anger, warning, or strong restraint.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

Explanation of prohibition

Warning of prohibition

Emphasis of prohibition

Tags EN

expression

daily conversation

prohibition expression imperative expression

Choice or Sentakushi

ち ょ い す せんたくし チョイス or 選択肢

Choisu or sentaku-shi

choice or option

Variants

- せんたくし い く つ か 選択肢がいくつかあって、..

There are several options for that, ...

- そうい^{せんたくし}う選択肢があ^{えら}って、..

There are such options, ...

- い^{えら}くつか選^{せんたくし}べて、..

There are several choices, ...

Adjusted Expression

い^{せんたくし}くつか選^{えら}択肢から、お選^{えら}びできます。

You can choose from several options.

Example

ええ、それにはいくつか^{せんたくし}選^{えら}択肢があ^{えら}って、..

Yes, there are several options for that, ...

Notes

'Choisu' comes from English 'choice' and is used in Japanese with meanings close to 'selection' or 'option.' However, 'choisu' sounds somewhat casual, while 'sentakushi' is easier to use in explanations or guidance. Having fixed phrases such as 'ikutsuka sentakushi ga atte, ...' makes it easier to present available options naturally in Japanese.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- Presenting options
- Explaining options
- Suggesting options

Tags EN

- expression
- daily conversation
- option expression
- suggestion expression

Verb-ta / Adj-i / Adj-na + koto ni

おどろいたことに、...

Odoroita koto ni, ...

surprisingly, ...

Variants

- おもしろいことに、...

Interestingly, ...

- うれしいことに、...

Fortunately, ...

- 残念なことに、...

Unfortunately, ...

Adjusted Expression

おどろ じじつ い 驚きの事実とでも言いましょうか、

How can I say it? It's a surprising fact that ...

Example

おどろ かれ にほんじん にほんご はな
驚いたことに、彼は日本人なみに日本語を話す。

Surprisingly, he speaks Japanese almost as well as a native Japanese speaker.

Notes

The pattern "verb-ta / adjective-i / adjective-na + koto ni" is used to add the speaker's evaluative comment at the beginning of a sentence.

Expressions such as "omoshiroi koto ni" and "odoroita koto ni" work like sentence adverbs such as "interestingly" or "surprisingly." Here, "koto" is a nominal element, and the whole pattern presents the speaker's reaction or viewpoint toward what follows.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- Expression of evaluation
- Expression of viewpoint
- Expression of reaction

Tags EN

- expression
- daily conversation
- expression of evaluation
- expression of viewpoint
- expression of reaction

Top-Class

いちりゅう 一流 ichiryu

top-class

Variants

いちりゅう ● 一流 top-class

さいこうい ● 最高位

the highest level

とっぷくらす ● トップクラス

first-rate

Adjusted Expression

いちりゅう りょうりにん 一流の料理人

a top-class chef

Example

なかむら いちりゅう りょうりにん 中村さんは一流の料理人です。

Mr. Nakamura is a top-class chef.

Notes

The word "ichi-ryu" means "top-class," "first-rate," or "of the highest level." It is used to describe a person, skill, product, or performance that is regarded as outstanding in its field.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- Evaluation of a person
- Evaluation of skill
- Evaluation of product
- Evaluation of performance

Tags EN

- expression
- daily conversation
- evaluation
- top-class
- the highest level

Doing One's Best

いっしょけんめい 一所懸命 isshokenmei

doing one's very best

Variants

いっしょけんめい ● 一所懸命

doing one's very best

ぜんりょく ● 全力で

with all one's effort

せいいつぱい ● 精一杯

to the best of one's ability

Adjusted Expression

いっしょけんめい べんきょう 一所懸命に勉強する

to study with all one's effort

Example

いっしょけんめい
一所懸命、がんばります。

I will do my very best.

Notes

The expression "issho-kemmei" means to do something with all one's effort. Historically, it literally referred to staking one's life on a single place or holding, but in modern Japanese it is commonly used to mean "doing one's very best" or "working as hard as possible."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

Expression to indicate doing something with all one's effort

Expression to indicate effort and hard work

Expression to indicate attitude towards work or study

Tags EN

expression

daily conversation

expression of effort

expression of hard work expression of attitude towards work or study

Everything, All of It

いっさいがっさい 一切合財 issaigassai

everything, all of it

Variants

- なんでもかんでも everything
- ありとあらゆる
all of it
- ^{なに}何もかも
the whole nine yards

Adjusted Expression

とりあえず、^{かんが}考えられるものをすべて^と取りまとめて、^{たいおう}対応します。

For now, we will gather together everything that can be considered and deal with it as a whole.

Example

^{いっさいがっさい}一切合財、まとめてこちらでお^ひ引き^う受けします。

We will handle everything here, all together.

Notes

"Issai-gassai" means "everything" or "all of it," with nothing left out. It often has a slightly emphatic tone and can sound somewhat old-fashioned or stylistically marked compared with neutral everyday expressions. Related expressions such as "nandemo-kandemo" and "ari to arayuru" are similar, but their tone and usage are not exactly the same.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- inclusion
- emphasis
- offering service

Tags EN

- lexical expression
- inclusive expression
- emphatic expression

A Once-in-a-Lifetime Encounter

いちごいちえ 一期一会 ichigoichie

a once-in-a-lifetime encounter

Variants

- いっしょう いちど 一生に一度
once in a lifetime
- またとない^{で あ}出会い
a unique encounter
- a meeting that comes only once

Adjusted Expression

いっしょう いちど^{で あ} 一生に一度しかない^{たいせつ}出会い^{おも}として、大切にしたいと思います。

I would like to cherish it as a once-in-a-lifetime encounter.

Example

いちごいちえ^{たいせつ} 一期一会を大切にしたい^{おも}と思います。

I would like to cherish this once-in-a-lifetime encounter.

Notes

'Ichigo-ichie' refers to a once-in-a-lifetime encounter, or to the idea of cherishing a moment because it will never occur in exactly the same way again. 'Ichigo' refers to one lifetime or a single occasion, and 'ichie' refers to one meeting or gathering. The phrase is also used in the Japanese title of the film 'Forrest Gump/Ichigo Ichie', starring Tom Hanks.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- valuation
- expressing preciousness
- expression of encounter

Tags EN

- lexical expression
- value expression
- expression of encounter

My Top Pick

いちお 一推し ichioshi

top pick

Variants

- おすすめ recommendation
- 特におすすめ top recommendation
- お推し favorite pick

Adjusted Expression

ことし もっと えいが
今年、最もおすすめしたい映画はこれです。

This is the movie I most highly recommend this year.

Example

ことし いちお えいが 今年一推しの映画はこれだ。

This is my top movie pick of the year.

Notes

'Ichi-oshi' refers to the item or person that the speaker most strongly recommends within a certain range. 'Ichi' means 'number one' or 'first', and 'oshi' is related to 'osu', meaning to recommend or support. 'Ichi-oshi' does not necessarily mean objectively the best; it means the speaker's top recommendation or strongest favorite.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

recommendation

evaluation

emphasis

Tags EN

lexical expression

recommendation expression

evaluative expression

All or Nothing

いち ばち 一か八か ichi ka bachi ka

all or nothing

Variants

- うん てん まか 運を天に任せる take a gamble
- か で 賭けに出る leave it to chance
- go all in

Adjusted Expression

せいこう ほうしょう おも き 成功する保証はありませんが、思い切ってやってみましょう。

There is no guarantee of success, but let's take a chance and try it.

Example

いち ばち 一か八かやってみよう。

Let's take a chance and try it.

Notes

"Ichi ka bachi ka" is an expression used when someone decides to take a risky chance without knowing whether the result will be a great success or a total failure. It is often associated with gambling in tone or background, and it conveys a do-or-die attitude.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- decision
- risk
- challenge

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- gambling-related expression
- decision expression

Rome Wasn't Built in a Day

ろ ま いちにち な ローマは一日にして成らず

roma wa ichinichi ni shite narazu

Rome wasn't built in a day.

Variants

- おおきなことを成し遂げるには、時間がかかります。

Great things take time to achieve.

- せんり みち いっぽ 千里の道も一歩から

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step.

- いし うえ さんねん
石の上にも三年

Perseverance pays off.

-

Patience and perseverance bring results.

Adjusted Expression

おおきなことを成し遂げるには、時間がかかります。

Great things take time to achieve.

Example

ろ ま いちにち な どりよく にんたい ひつよう ローマは一日にして成らず、努力と忍耐が必要です。

Rome wasn't built in a day. It takes effort and patience.

Notes

This is a well-known proverb meaning that great things cannot be accomplished quickly. It is used to remind someone that important work, growth, or achievement takes time.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

lesson encouragement

sense of time

Tags EN

proverb

expression of effort

expression of time

Happy Birthday!

たんじょうび お誕生日、おめでとう！

otanjoubi omedetou!

Happy Birthday!

Variants

- お誕生日、おめでとう！
Happy Birthday!
- お誕生日おめでとう！
Happy birthday!
- 誕生日おめでとう！
Happy birthday to you!

Adjusted Expression

たんじょうび
お誕生日、おめでとうございます。

Happy birthday.

Notes

The word "o-tanjoubi" means "birthday." "O" is a polite prefix. The word "omedetou" means "congratulations" and is used to celebrate a special occasion.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

celebrating someone's birthday expressing congratulations

a friendly greeting

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- formulaic expression
- greeting expression
- congratulatory expression
- colloquial

Thanks, Crocodile!

どうも、クロコダイル！

doumo, kurokodairu!

Thanks, crocodile!

Variants

- どうも、アリゲーター！

Thanks, alligator!

- どうも、クロコダイル！

Thanks, crocodile!

Adjusted Expression

「ありがとう」と言おうとして、まちがって「クロコダイル」と言ってしまいました。

I tried to say "arigatou" but mistakenly said "crocodile."

Example

「ありがとう」と言おうとして、「クロコダイル」って言っちゃった

I tried to say arigatou but ended up saying crocodile.

Notes

This expression is used humorously as a mistaken or playful substitute for "arigatou." In the anecdote behind it, someone tried to remember "arigatou" by linking it to a similar-sounding English word such as "alligator," but ended up saying "crocodile" instead. The point is not correctness but the amusing sound association across languages.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- gratitude
- humor
- sound-based association

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- humorous expression
- sound association
- speech mistake
- observational record

You're Speaking Too Fast

はやくち き と 早口で聞き取れない

Hayakuchi de kikitorenai

I can't catch what you're saying because you're speaking too fast.

Variants

- はやくち
• 早口でわからない

I can't follow you because you're talking too fast.

- はや き と
• 早すぎて聞き取れない

You're speaking too fast for me to catch it.

Adjusted Expression

すこ はやくち き と 少し早口なので、聞き取れませんでした。

I could not catch what you are saying because you are speaking a little too fast.

Example

A 「昨日の映画、どうだった？」 B 「早口で聞き取れないところもあったけど、面白かったよ」

A: How was the movie yesterday? B: There were parts I couldn't catch because the speech was too fast, but it was interesting.

Notes

"Hayakuchi" refers to speaking quickly or in rapid speech. "Kikitorenai" means that the listener cannot catch or make out what is being said. The whole expression is used when someone is speaking so fast that the listener cannot follow the speech clearly.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- asking for repetition
- difficulty in understanding
- adjusting conversation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- listening-comprehension expression
- conversation-adjustment expression

Making Rice Balls

おにぎりを握る^{にぎ}

Onigiri wo nigiru

to make rice balls

Variants

- おにぎりをつくる^{つく}
to make rice balls
- おむすびを握る^{にぎ} to make onigiri
- to shape rice into rice balls

Adjusted Expression

炊いたご飯^{た はん}を握^{にぎ}って、おにぎりをつ^{つく}ります。

We make rice balls by shaping cooked rice with our hands.

Example

A 「おにぎりを握^{にぎ}るのは、楽^{たの}しいね！」 B 「うん、炊いたご飯^{た はん}を握^{にぎ}って、おにぎりをつ^{つく}るのは、面白^{おもしろ}いよね！」

A: Making rice balls is fun! B: Yes, shaping cooked rice into rice balls is interesting!

Notes

"Onigiri" means a rice ball, usually made by shaping cooked rice into a round or triangular form. "Nigiru" means to hold or press something in the hand, and in "onigiri wo nigiru" it describes the action of shaping rice by hand to make an onigiri. Onigiri is a popular Japanese food, often wrapped with seaweed.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

cooking

expression of action

expression of food

Tags EN

lexical expression

cooking expression

food expression

Making Omurice

おむらいす つく オムライスを作る

Omuraisu wo tsukuru

to make omurice

Variants

- おむらいす つく オムライスを作ります

to make omurice

- たまご つつ 卵で包んだケチャップライスを作る to make ketchup rice wrapped in a thin omelet

-

to make an omelet-wrapped rice dish

Adjusted Expression

け ち ゃ っ ぷ ら い す う す た ま ご つ つ お む ら い す つ く ケチャップライスを薄い卵で包んで、オムライスを作ります。

We make omurice by wrapping ketchup rice in a thin omelet.

Example

A 「おむらいす、食べたい？」 B 「うん、大好き！」

A: Do you want to eat omurice? B: Yes, I love it!

Notes

'Omuraisu' is a Japanese-style food name made from 'omelet' and 'rice.' It refers to ketchup-flavored rice wrapped in a thin omelet, and it is a popular dish in Japan. Many international students who come to Japan for the first time tend to enjoy omurice. Its characteristic appeal is the combination of slightly sweet egg and ketchup rice.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- cooking
- expression of action
- expression of food

Tags EN

- lexical expression
- cooking expression
- food expression

Making Okonomiyaki

このやつく お好み焼きを作る

Okonomiyaki wo tsukuru

to make okonomiyaki

Variants

- このやつく お好み焼きを作ります to make okonomiyaki
- このややく お好み焼きを焼く to cook okonomiyaki
- to make a Japanese savory pancake

Adjusted Expression

こむぎこ たまご ま このやつく
小麦粉、卵、キャベツなどを混ぜて、お好み焼きを作ります。

We make okonomiyaki by mixing flour, eggs, cabbage, and other ingredients and cooking it on a hot plate.

Example

A 「このや、食べたい？」 B 「うん、大好き！」

A: Do you want to eat okonomiyaki? B: Yes, I love it!

Notes

"Okonomiyaki" is a popular Japanese dish made by mixing flour, eggs, cabbage, and other ingredients and cooking the mixture on a hot plate.

"Okonomi" refers to what one likes or prefers, and "yaki" refers to something grilled or cooked. There are several regional styles, especially Osaka style and Hiroshima style. When I was a child, I loved eating okonomiyaki. Back then, okonomiyaki was not as glamorous as it is today. It was a simple thin pancake-like food made with flour, a small amount of cabbage, and a slice of pork. If yakisoba was included, only a few relatively well-off children could afford it. Okonomiyaki was cooked by neighborhood housewives in temporary garage-like spaces.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- cooking
- expression of action
- expression of food

Tags EN

- lexical expression
- cooking expression
- food expression

Excuse Me / I'm Sorry

すみません。

Sumimasen.

Excuse me. / I'm sorry.

Variants

- すいません。

Excuse me.

- もう わけ申し訳ありません。

I'm sorry.

- しつぱい失礼します。

Pardon me.

Adjusted Expression

もう わけ申し訳ありません。

I sincerely apologize.

Example

すみません、ちょっと^{おし}教えてください。

Excuse me, could you tell me something?

Notes

'Sumimasen' is a versatile fixed expression used in many situations. It is used not only for apologizing, but also for getting someone's attention, asking for help, or beginning a request. It often works as a preface when the speaker is about to take a little of the listener's attention or time, as in 'sumimasen, chotto oshiete kudasai'.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

apology getting attention request

calling for attention

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

formulaic expression

polite expression

Before a Meal

いただきます。

Itadakimasu.

Thank you for the food.

Variants

- それでは、いただきます。

Thank you for the meal.

- ありがたくいただきます。

Let's eat.

Adjusted Expression

それでは、ありがたくいただきます。

Well then, thank you for the food.

Example

^た食べる^{まえ}前に「いただきます」と^い言う。

Before eating, people say, Itadakimasu.

Notes

"Itadakimasu" is a fixed expression said before eating in Japan. It is used to begin a meal with a sense of gratitude and respectful receiving, rather than as a simple literal statement. Although the verb behind it is the humble form "itadaku," in actual use it functions as a formulaic mealtime expression.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- starting a meal
- gratitude
- formulaic greeting

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- formulaic expression
- meal expression

Good Night

やす お休みなさい。

oyasumi nasai.

Good night.

Variants

- やす お休み。
Good night.
- では、やす お休みなさい。
Sleep well.

Adjusted Expression

それでは、どうぞやす お休みください。

Well then, please have a good rest.

Example

もうおそ いので、やす お休みなさい。

It's getting late, so good night.

Notes

'Oyasumi nasai' is a fixed greeting used before going to sleep or when parting from someone at night. It is based on 'yasumu', meaning 'to rest', with the polite prefix 'o' and the form 'nasai'. In actual use, however, it functions less as a command and more as a bedtime or nighttime parting expression. With close people, the shorter form 'oyasumi' is also common.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

greeting expression before sleep parting expression

Tags EN

formulaic expression spoken greeting expression parting expression

Sorry to Keep You Waiting

お^ま待たせしました。

Omatase shimashita.

Sorry to keep you waiting.

Variants

- お^ま待たせいたしました。

Sorry to have kept you waiting.

- お^ま待たせしてすみません。

Thank you for waiting.

Adjusted Expression

お^ま待たせして^{もう}申し^{わけ}ありません。

I apologize for keeping you waiting.

Example

お^ま待たせしました。こちらへどうぞ。

Sorry to keep you waiting. This way, please.

Notes

"Omatase shimashita" is a fixed expression used after keeping someone waiting. Formally, it contains several layers, including the polite prefix "o", the causative verb "mataseru", "suru", the polite form "masu", and the past marker "ta", so it becomes quite complex if analyzed. In actual use, however, it is best learned as one formulaic expression meaning

"Sorry to have kept you waiting." It is often used in customer service or when resuming an interaction.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- apology
- customer service
- resuming interaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- formulaic expression
- polite expression
- apology expression

That Was Rude of Me

しつれい 失礼しました。

shitsurei shimashita.

I'm sorry. / That was rude of me.

Variants

- しつれい
失礼しました。

I'm sorry.

- しつれい
失礼いたしました。

That was rude of me.

- さっきはしつれい
失礼しました。

Sorry about that.

Adjusted Expression

さき しつれい
先ほどは失礼いたしました。

I apologize for my rudeness earlier.

Example

さっきはしつれい 失礼しました。

I'm sorry about earlier.

Notes

'Shitsurei shimashita' is a polite apology used when the speaker feels that their behavior or words were rude, inappropriate, or slightly lacking in courtesy. 'Shitsurei' means rudeness or a lack of proper manners, and

'shimashita' is the past form of 'suru', but in actual use the whole phrase functions as a fixed expression. It can be used to apologize gently for something said or done earlier, as in 'sakki wa shitsurei shimashita'.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- apology
- politeness
- adjusting interaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- formulaic expression
- polite expression
- apology expression

Wonderful!

すばらしい！

Subarashii!

Wonderful!

Variants

- すばらしいですね。

Wonderful!

- ほんとうにすばらしい！

Excellent!

- みごとだ。

That's amazing!

Adjusted Expression

たいへんすばらしい^{おも}と思います。

I think it is truly wonderful.

Example

すばらしい！よくできました。

Wonderful! You did very well.

Notes

"Subarashii" is used to express strong praise or admiration. It can be used for a performance, an idea, a piece of work, or a person's action, and in immediate use it often comes out as a direct exclamation.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- praise
- admiration
- evaluation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- evaluative expression
- emotional expression

It's Already Bought and Ready

それは、もう^か買ってある。

Sore wa, mou katte aru.

It's already bought and ready.

Variants

- もう^か買ってあるよ。

I've already bought it.

- それは先に^か買ってあります。

It's already been bought.

-

I've already got it ready.

Adjusted Expression

それは、すでに^{こうにゆう}購入してあります。

It has already been purchased and prepared.

Example

^{ぎゅうにゆう}牛乳はもう^か買ってあるから、^{きょう}今日は^か買わなくていいよ。

The milk has already been bought, so you don't need to buy it today.

Notes

The phrase "katte aru" indicates that something has already been done and is prepared. The word "katte" is the te-form of the verb "kau" which means "to buy." The word "aru" is the verb "aru" which means "to exist."

As a result of the action of the verb, something already exists. Therefore, it means "I don't have to buy it anymore" or "it's already prepared."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- completion of preparation
- reassurance
- confirmation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- preparation-completed expression
- result-state expression

Shall I Get One?

じゃ、それ、ひとつ、^か買っておきましょ うか。

Ja, sore, hitotsu, katte okimashou ka.

Well then, shall I get one?

Variants

- じゃ、それ、^か買っておきましょか。

Well then, shall I buy one?

- ^{さき}先に^か買っておきましょか。

Shall I get one in advance?

-

Shall I pick one up for later?

Adjusted Expression

では、それをひとつ^か買っておきましょか。

Well then, shall I buy one in advance?

Example

^{あと}後で^{ひつよう}必要かもしれないから、じゃ、それ、ひとつ、^か買っておきましょか。

We might need it later, so well then, shall I get one?

Notes

"Katte okimashou ka" is used to suggest buying something. "Katte" is the te-form of the verb "kau" which means "to buy." "Okimashou ka" is the polite form of the verb "oku" which means "to do" or "to prepare." It is easy to understand that when expressing something that has already been bought as a preparation, "te aru" is used, and when buying something for preparation, "te oku" is used.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- offering
- preparation
- suggestion

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- offering expression
- preparation expression

Like Two Peas in a Pod

うりふた 瓜二つ

Uri futatsu

like two peas in a pod

Variants

- そっくり exactly alike
- 生き写し^{うつ} almost identical
- よく似ている^に
look just the same

Adjusted Expression

ふたり^み ^わ二人は見分けがつかないほどよく似ています。

The two are so alike that it is hard to tell them apart.

Example

ふたり^{うりふた}二人はまるで瓜二つ。

The two are just like two peas in a pod.

Notes

"Uri futatsu" is an idiomatic expression meaning that two people look so similar that it is hard to tell them apart. "Uri" refers to a melon or gourd-like fruit, and the expression compares two similar-looking people to two similar gourds placed side by side. It is mainly used for resemblance in appearance.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

expression of resemblance

evaluation

observation

Tags EN

lexical expression

resemblance expression idiomatic expression

Shall We Have Some Tea?

お^{ちゃ}茶しませんか。

Ocha shimasen ka.

Shall we have some tea?

Variants

- ちょっとお^{ちゃ}茶しませんか。

How about some tea?

- お^{ちゃ}茶でもしませんか。

Would you like to have tea?

- お^{ちゃ}茶しない？

How about a tea break?

Adjusted Expression

もしよろしければ、お^{ちゃ}茶でも飲^のみませんか。

If you like, would you like to have some tea or something to drink?

Example

すこ^{すこ}やす^{やす}休みたいですね。お^{ちゃ}茶しませんか。

It looks like we could use a little break. Shall we have some tea?

Notes

"Ocha" literally means "tea," but here it works as a typical example of something to drink during a break. It can imply taking a short break, having something to drink, or starting a conversation. "Shimasen ka" is formally a polite negative question, but in this expression it functions as an invitation rather than a negative statement. The particle "ka" marks a question, but in casual speech it can be omitted, as in "ocha shinai?" Just because the word is "ocha," it does not mean that you cannot drink coffee.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- invitation
- taking a break
- starting a conversation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- invitation expression
- break-time expression

When you are called your name

なあに？ naani?

What?

Variants

- なに？

What?

- なあに

Yes?

- なに？ どうしたの？

What is it?

Adjusted Expression

なに よう 何かご用ですか。

Do you need me for something?

Example

A 「たなか田中くん！」 B 「なあに？」

A: Tanaka! B: What?

Notes

"Naani" is a colloquial expression close to "What?" or "What is it?" It can be used when someone calls your name or seems to want to say something to you. It often sounds soft and familiar, so in more formal situations expressions such as "nan deshous ka" or "nanika goyou desu ka" are more appropriate.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- response to being called
- checking
- starting interaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- response-to-being-called expression

Excellent

すごい！ sugoi!

Excellent!

Variants

- すごい！
Excellent!
- すごいですね。 Amazing!
- すごいなあ。 Great!

Adjusted Expression

それはたいへんすばらしい^{おも}と思います。

I think that is excellent.

Example

A 「これなら満足^{まんぞく}？」 B 「うん！ 本当^{ほんとう}にすごいよ！」

A: Is this satisfactory? B: Yes! It's really excellent!

Notes

"Sugoi" is a colloquial expression used to show surprise, admiration, or praise. It can be used for a person, action, result, or event when the speaker feels that something is extraordinary, intense, or strongly impressive. It is often positive, but depending on the context it can also simply express a high degree or intensity.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- admiration
- praise
- surprise

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- emotional expression
- evaluative expression

Lovely!

すてき！

Suteki!

Lovely!

Variants

- すてきですね。

Lovely!

- ほんとうにすてき！

That's lovely!

- すてきだね。

How nice!

Adjusted Expression

とてもすてきだ^{おも}と思います。

I think it is very lovely.

Example

その服^{ふく}、すてき！

That outfit is lovely!

Notes

"Suteki" is used to express warm admiration or a favorable impression. Compared with "subarashii," it often sounds lighter, softer, and more personal, and it is frequently used for appearance, atmosphere, taste, or small moments that feel charming.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- praise
- admiration
- positive evaluation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- evaluative expression
- emotional expression

You Know What?

あのね？

Ano ne?

You know what?

Variants

- あのね、
You know what?
- あのさ、
Hey, listen.
- ねえ、あのね。
So, you know...

Adjusted Expression

あのですね、ちょっとお話し^{はな}したいことがあります。

Well, there is something I would like to tell you.

Example

あのね、きょう学校^{がっこう}でね、おもしろいことがあったんだ。

You know what? Something interesting happened at school today.

Notes

"Ano ne" is a casual expression used to draw the listener in before saying something. Rather than simply seeking agreement, it often works as a soft way to begin speaking, especially when the speaker wants attention, wants to share something personal, or is about to tell a small story.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- calling someone
- starting to speak
- directing attention

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- speech-opening expression
- attention-directing expression

Everything

ぜんぶ

Zenbu

everything

Variants

- ^{ぜんぶ}全部

everything

- すべて

all of it

- ^{なに}何もかも

the whole thing

Adjusted Expression

^{かんけい}関係するものを、^{ぜんぶ}全部まとめて^{ふく}含みます。

It includes everything related, all together.

Example

これ、ぜんぶ^た食べていいの？

Can I eat all of this?

Notes

"Zenbu" means "everything," "all," or "the whole thing." It is a very common everyday word used to refer to the whole of something. Compared with "subete," it often sounds more casual and more natural in conversation.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- inclusion
- emphasis
- referring to the whole

Tags EN

- lexical expression
- inclusive expression
- spoken

No Way!

ありえん！ arien!

No way!

Variants

- ありえない！

No way!

- そんなのありえん！

That's impossible!

- まさか！

Unbelievable!

Adjusted Expression

それは、ありえない^{おも}と思います。

I think that is impossible.

Example

^かいれんぞく ^じゃんけん ^か 3回連続でジャンケンで勝った？ ありえん！

Notes

"Arien" is a casual spoken form of "arienai." It expresses strong disbelief, surprise, or the feeling that something is hard to believe. Rather than sounding like a careful judgment, it often works as a quick reaction close to "No way!" or "Unbelievable!"

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- disbelief
- surprise
- strong denial

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- emotional expression
- disbelief expression

Oh, Really?

へえー

Hee

Oh, really?

Variants

- へえ。

Oh, really?

- へえー。

Wow.

- へえ、そうなんだ。

Is that so?

Adjusted Expression

そうなんですか。

Oh, is that so?

Example

A 「その人、20か国語話せるんだって」 B 「へえー」

A: They say that person can speak twenty languages. B: Oh, really?

Notes

"Hee" is an interjection used to show surprise, interest, or mild admiration. In actual conversation, it often works as a quick listener response rather than a strong exclamation. Compared with "wow," it is usually softer and closer to "oh, really?" or "is that so?" depending on the context.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- surprise
- interest
- backchannel response

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- backchannel expression
- reaction expression

Hmm, I See

ふーん

Fuun

Hmm, I see.

Variants

- ふーん。
Hmm.
- ふうん。
I see.
- ふーん、そうなんだ。
Hmm, is that so?

Adjusted Expression

そうなんですね。

I see. Is that so?

Example

A 「その人、毎朝4時に起きるんだって」 B 「ふーん」

A: They say that person gets up at four every morning. B: Hmm, I see.

Notes

"Fuun" is an interjection used as an immediate listener response. It can show mild interest, acknowledgment, or emotional distance, depending on intonation and context. Unlike "hee," it often sounds flatter and may even suggest that the speaker is not especially impressed.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- reaction
- interest
- brushing off

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- backchannel expression
- reaction expression

Oh, I See!

そっか！

Sokka!

Oh, I see!

Variants

- そうか。
Oh, I see.
- そっか。
I see now.
- そっか、なるほど。
Oh, right.

Adjusted Expression

そういうことなのですね。

I see. So that is how it is.

Example

A 「^{あした}明日は休みだよ」 B 「^{やす}そっか！」

A: Tomorrow is a holiday. B: Oh, I see!

Notes

"Sokka" is a colloquial contracted form of "sou ka." It is used when the speaker understands something, realizes something, or sees how a situation fits together. Compared with "hee," it shows not just surprise or interest, but a sense that the information has now made sense to the speaker.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- understanding
- realization
- reaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- realization expression

So-So

まあまあ

Maamaa

So-so.

Variants

- まあまあだね。

So-so.

- まあ、悪^{わる}くないよ。

Not bad.

- そんなに悪^{わる}くなかったよ。

It was okay.

Adjusted Expression

とく^{とく}にすごく良^よかったわけではありませんが、悪^{わる}くもありませんでした。

It was not especially good, but it was not bad either.

Example

A 「試験^{しけん}、どうだった？」 B 「まあまあ、難^{むずか}しかったけど、なんとかできたよ。」

A: How was the exam? B: So-so. It was difficult, but I managed.

Notes

"Maamaa" is a common spoken expression used when the speaker gives a moderate or noncommittal evaluation. It often means that something was neither especially good nor especially bad. Depending on tone and context, it can sound mildly positive, lukewarm, or slightly withholding.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- moderate evaluation
- reaction
- softened reply

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- evaluative expression
- ambiguous reply

Oh, That's It?

な あ ん だ

Naanda

Oh, that's it?

Variants

- なんだ。
Oh, that's it?
- なーんだ。
Oh, I see.
- なんだ、そういうことか。
So that was it.

Adjusted Expression

そういうことだったのですね。

I see. So that was what it was.

Example

A 「リモコンが見つからないと思ったら、ソファの下にあった」 B 「なあんだ、そんなところにあったのか」

A: I thought I had lost the remote, but it was under the sofa. B: Oh, that's it? So it was there.

Notes

"Naanda" is an interjection used when something becomes clear and the speaker reacts with a sense of anticlimax, mild surprise, or relief. It often comes out when the answer turns out to be simpler, smaller, or less serious than expected. Compared with "sokka," it more easily carries the feeling of "Oh, it was only that."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- realization
- anticlimax
- reaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- realization expression

Two thumbs up

いいね

Ii ne

Nice

Variants

- いいね。
That's good.
- いいですね。
Two thumbs up.
- それ、いいね。
That sounds good.

Adjusted Expression

それはよい^{おも}と思います。

I think that is good.

Example

A 「この^{みせ}店、^い行ってみない？」 B 「いいね」

A: Why don't we try this place? B: Nice.

Notes

"Ii ne" is a common spoken expression used to show approval, agreement, or a favorable reaction on the spot. It can also be used as a translation of "Two thumbs up," which conveys a strong positive feeling.

The phrase is versatile and can be used in various contexts to express that you like something or agree with it.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- agreement
- positive evaluation
- shared feeling

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- evaluative expression
- agreement expression

You're Kidding!

うそだあ～

Uso daa~

You're kidding!

Variants

- うそだあ。

You're kidding!

- うそでしょ？

No way!

- まさか！

You can't be serious!

Adjusted Expression

それはうそでしょう。

That cannot be true.

Example

A 「田中^{たなか}くんのお父^{とう}さんはゴジラ^{ごじら}なんだって」 B 「うそだあ～」

Notes

"Uso daa~" is a colloquial reaction used when the speaker hears something and responds with disbelief or surprise. Rather than calmly judging whether something is true, it sounds like a spontaneous reaction close to "Really?" or "You're kidding!"

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- disbelief
- surprise
- reaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- disbelief expression

Really?

ほんとう

Hontoo

Really?

Variants

- ほんと？
Really?
- ほんとう？
Is that true?
- ほんとう？
For real?

Adjusted Expression

ほんとう 本当ですか。

Is that really true?

Example

A 「その人、独学で10か国語できるんだって」 B 「ほんとう」

A: They say that person taught themselves ten languages. B: Really?

Notes

"Hontoo" is a casual reaction used when the speaker shows surprise, interest, or mild disbelief. It is often lighter and softer than a strong expression of disbelief, and it can function as a quick listener response. When I was a child, my mother often said this to me, and I was happy to hear it, so I would go to the library, learn something new, and tell it to her.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- surprise
- interest
- mild disbelief

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- backchannel expression

Thanks to You

おかげさまで

Okage-sama de

Thanks to you, I'm doing well.

Variants

- おかげさまで、^{げんき}元気です。
Thanks to you, I'm doing well.
- おかげさまで、なんとかやっています。
Thanks to your support, I'm doing fine.
- I'm doing well, thanks to you.

Adjusted Expression

皆さまのおかげで、元気に過ごしております。

Thanks to everyone's support, I have been doing well.

Example

A 「お^{げんき}元気ですか。」 B 「おかげさまで、^{げんき}元気です。」

A: How have you been? B: Thanks to you, I'm doing well.

Notes

"Okage-sama de" is a polite formulaic expression used to respond with gratitude, often when someone asks how you are doing. It does not simply mean "thanks," but carries the sense that one's present well-being is due to the kindness, support, or consideration of others. Because of this, it does not map neatly onto a single fixed English phrase.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- gratitude
- responding about one's condition
- polite expression

Tags EN

- formulaic expression
- spoken
- gratitude expression
- greeting expression

Excuse Me for Leaving First

さき しつれい
お先に失礼します。

Osaki ni shitsurei shimasu.

Excuse me for leaving before you.

Variants

- さき しつれい
お先に失礼します。

Excuse me for leaving first.

- さき あ お先に上がります。

I'll be leaving now.

- さき しつれい
お先に失礼いたします。

Please excuse me for heading out before you.

Adjusted Expression

それでは、さき しつれい
お先に失礼いたします。

Well then, please excuse me for leaving before you.

Example

それでは、さき しつれい
お先に失礼します。

Well then, please excuse me for leaving before you.

Notes

"Osaki ni shitsurei shimasu" is a polite fixed expression used when the speaker leaves while others are still staying, especially in workplaces. It is not a general equivalent of "goodbye," but a more specific expression meaning that the speaker is excusing themselves for leaving first. A related workplace expression is "otsukaresama desu/deshita," but that has a different function and nuance.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- leaving
- greeting
- polite expression

Tags EN

- formulaic expression
- spoken
- workplace expression
- parting expression

Oh, I Didn't Know That

そうでしたか。

Sou deshita ka.

Oh, I didn't know that.

Variants

- そうだったんですか。
Oh, I didn't know that.
- そうですか。
I see.
- そうでしたか。
Oh, is that so?

Adjusted Expression

それは知りませんでした。

I did not know that.

Example

A 「先生、来週^{らいしゅう}は休講^{きゅうこう}です。」 B 「そうでしたか。」

A: The class will be canceled next week. B: Oh, I didn't know that.

Notes

"Sou deshita ka" is a polite reaction expression used when the speaker has just learned something new and responds with understanding, mild surprise, or acknowledgment. The past form gives it a reflective nuance, as if the speaker is taking in what has just been explained. It is often softer and more polite than a casual response such as "sokka."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- understanding
- realization
- mild surprise
- polite response

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- polite expression

I Can't Make Sense of It

なに なん 何が何だかわからない。

Nani ga nan da ka wakaranai.

I can't make sense of what's what.

Variants

- なに なん
何が何だかわからない。

I can't make sense of what's what.

- なに なん
もう何が何だかわからない。

I have no idea what's going on.

- なに 何がどうなっているのかわからない。

I can't tell what's what anymore.

Adjusted Expression

じょうきょう ふくざつ なに
状況が複雑で、何がどうなっているのか理解できません。

The situation is so complicated that I cannot understand what is going on.

Example

かれ せつめい はや なに なん
彼が説明してくれるけど、あまりにも速すぎて、何が何だかわからない。

He explains it to me, but he speaks so fast that I can't make sense of what's what.

Notes

"Nani ga nan da ka wakaranai" is used when the speaker feels confused and cannot sort out what is what in the situation. It often appears when too many things are happening at once, when an explanation is hard to follow, or when the speaker feels mentally overwhelmed. Rather than a calm statement of non-understanding, it often carries the feeling of immediate confusion.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

confusion

difficulty in understanding failure to grasp the situation

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

confusion expression difficulty-understanding expression

I'll Give It a Try

やってみます。

Yatte mimasu.

I'll give it a try.

Variants

- やってみます。

I'll give it a try.

- ちょっとやってみます。

I'll try it.

- まずはやってみます。

I'll go ahead and try.

Adjusted Expression

まずは一度、試しにやってみます。

First, I will try doing it once and see how it goes.

Example

A 「この料理、^{りょうり}作^{つく}ってみる？」 B 「ええ、やってみます」

A: Do you want to try making this dish? B: Yes, I'll give it a try.

Notes

"Yatte mimasu" is used when the speaker expresses a willingness to try doing something. It often appears as a positive response to a suggestion, invitation, or challenge. Rather than guaranteeing success, it conveys a readiness to attempt something and see how it goes.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- trying
- willingness
- positive response

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- response expression
- trial expression

Not Really

そうでもない

Sou demo nai

not really

Variants

- そうでもない
not really
- そうでもないよ not that much
- べつにそうでもない
it's not really like that

Adjusted Expression

それほど^{たいへん}大変ではありません。

It is not that tough.

Example

A 「^{たいへん}大変だね」 B 「そうでもないよ」

A: That sounds tough. B: Not really.

Notes

"Sou demo nai" is used when the speaker responds by softening, downplaying, or gently denying what has just been said. It often appears when someone says something was hard, serious, great, or extreme, and the speaker answers that it was not quite so. Depending on tone and context, it can sound modest, reassuring, reserved, or slightly bluffing.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- soft denial
- modest response
- downplaying a situation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- response expression
- soft denial expression

Anyway / In Any Case

どちみち

Dochimichi

anyway / in any case

Variants

- どのみち anyway
- いずれにせよ
in any case
- とにかく
either way

Adjusted Expression

どのみち、結果は変わらないと思います。

In any case, I think the result will not change.

Example

A 「僕は宿題^{ぼく しゅくだい}はしないつもりだ」 B 「そうだね、どちみち、単位^{たんい}は取れないだろう^と」

A: I don't plan to do my homework. B: Right, either way, you probably won't get the credits.

Notes

"Dochimichi" means "anyway," "either way," or "in any case." It is used when the speaker sees the outcome as essentially unchanged no matter which course is taken. In conversation, it can carry a nuance of resignation, inevitability, or rough practical judgment. The form "donomichi" is also common and is often felt to be slightly more standard.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

stating the outcome resignation sorting out the situation

Tags EN

immediate grammar spoken conclusion-marking expression outlook expression

In the End

けっきょく 結局

Kekkyoku

in the end

Variants

- ^{けっきょく}結局
in the end
- ^{けっきょく}結局のところ after all
- ^{さいご}最後には eventually

Adjusted Expression

^{さいしゅうでき}最終的には、彼が来ることになりました。

In the end, it was decided that he would come.

Example

A 「^{けっきょく}結局、^{かれ}彼が^く来ることになりました」

A: In the end, it was decided that he would come.

Notes

"Kekkyoku" is used when the speaker presents the final outcome after various possibilities, expectations, or developments. It often carries the feeling that things turned out that way after all, sometimes with a nuance of summary, resignation, or practical conclusion.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- stating a conclusion
- summing up a result
- expression of outcome

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- conclusion-marking expression
- result expression

There's Nothing We Can Do

どうにもならない。

Dou ni mo naranai.

There's nothing we can do.

Variants

- どうにもならない。
There's nothing we can do.
- もうどうにもならない。
There's nothing I can do.
- どうしようもない。
It can't be helped.

Adjusted Expression

この状況では、今のところどうすることもできません。

In this situation, there is nothing we can do for now.

Example

A 「雨^{あめ}が降^ふっているから、洗濯^{せんたく}が干^ほせない」 B 「こればかりは、どうにもならないね」

A: It's raining, so I can't hang out the laundry. B: In this case, there's nothing we can do.

Notes

"Dou ni mo naranai" is used when the speaker feels that the situation cannot be changed no matter what they do. It expresses helplessness, resignation, or the sense that things are beyond one's control. In conversation, it often appears as an immediate reaction to an unpleasant but unavoidable situation. "kore bakari wa" can be added at the beginning to emphasize that this is a situation where nothing can be done.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- helplessness
- resignation
- accepting the situation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- expression of resignation
- expression of helplessness

Ultimately / In the End

さいしゅうてき 最終的には

Saishuuteki ni wa

ultimately / in the end

Variants

- さいしゅうてき • 最終的には ultimately
- けっきょく
• 結局 in the end
- さいご • 最後には after all

Adjusted Expression

さいしゅうてき はんだん き
最終的な判断としては、そのように決まりました。

As the final decision, that is what was decided.

Example

さいしゅうてき さんせい
「最終的には、みんな賛成しました。」

In the end, everyone agreed.

Notes

"Saishuuteki ni wa" is used when the speaker presents the final outcome after a process, discussion, or series of events. However, this expression by itself does not guarantee that everyone agreed willingly. In actual situations, it may simply mean that a decision was reached, sometimes because someone with stronger influence pushed it through.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- stating a conclusion
- summing up a result
- expression of decision

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- conclusion-marking expression
- result expression

Either Way

どちらにしても

Dochira ni shitemo

either way

Variants

- どちらにしても either way
- どっちにしても in any case
- いずれにしても
whichever way it goes

Adjusted Expression

いずれにしても、確認が必要です。

In any case, confirmation is necessary.

Example

「どちらにしても、かくにん確認ひつようが必要です」

Either way, we need to confirm it.

Notes

"Dochira ni shitemo" is used when the speaker wants to say that the same point holds regardless of which option is chosen. It is useful for summarizing a discussion, narrowing the focus, or moving people away from unproductive back-and-forth. In meetings, for example, it can help cut through a long and boring discussion by shifting attention to what still needs to be done anyway.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

sorting out the situation

stating a conclusion

bringing discussion to a close

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

conclusion-marking expression

discussion-organizing expression

Everyone's Doing Fine

みんな、^{げんき}元気してるよ。

Minna, genki shiteru yo.

Everyone's doing fine.

Variants

- みんな、^{げんき}元気してるよ。

Everyone's doing fine.

- みんな^{げんき}元気だよ。

Everyone's fine.

- みんな^{げんき}元気にしてるよ。

They're all doing well.

Adjusted Expression

みんな^{げんき}元気になっていますよ。

Everyone is doing well.

Example

A 「みんな、^{げんき}元気してる？」 B 「みんな、^{げんき}元気してるよ」

A: How's everyone doing? B: Everyone's doing fine.

Notes

"Minna, genki shiteru yo" is a casual way to say that everyone is doing well. It often appears as a response when someone asks about family members, friends, or people back home. In some dialects, "shiteru" may appear as "shitoru," as in "genki shitoru?" or "genki shitoru yo."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- reporting how people are doing
- response
- reply to concern

Tags EN

- spoken
- well-being expression
- response expression
- greeting-related expression

Either Way

いずれにせよ

Izure ni seyo

either way

Variants

- いずれにしても either way
- どちらにしても
in any case
- ともかく
at any rate

Adjusted Expression

いずれにせよ、準備^{じゅんび}をしておいたほうがよい^{おも}と思います。

Either way, I think it is better to be prepared.

Example

A 「いずれにせよ、準備^{じゅんび}をしておいたほうがいい」

A: Either way, it is better to be prepared.

Notes

"Izure ni seyo" is used when the speaker closes off several possible branches and moves on to what still holds. It does not decide which possibility is correct; it says that the next point applies regardless.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- closing off alternatives
- moving the discussion forward
- linking to a conclusion

Tags EN

- formulaic expression
- connective expression
- explanatory expression
- discourse expression

Oops!

おっと！

Otto!

Oops!

Variants

- おっと。
Oops!
- おっとっと。 Whoops!

Adjusted Expression

おっと、傘^{かさ}を持ってくるのを忘れていました。

Oops, I forgot to bring my umbrella.

Example

A 「おっと、傘^{かさ}、持ってくるの、忘れてた」

A: Oops, I forgot to bring my umbrella.

Notes

"Otto" is an immediate reaction used when the speaker suddenly notices something: a small mistake, a missed item, a near slip, or an unexpected turn. It is not a carefully chosen sentence but a quick sound that appears at the moment of noticing.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- realization
- reaction to a mistake
- immediate reaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken expression
- reaction expression
- interjection

Wow!

わあ！

Waa!

Wow!

Variants

- わあ。

Wow!

- わあ、すごい！

Wow, that's amazing!

Adjusted Expression

わあ、素晴らしいですね。

Wow, that is wonderful.

Example

A 「わあ、すごい！」

A: Wow, that's amazing!

Notes

"Waa" is an immediate reaction to something that appears before the speaker as surprising, impressive, beautiful, or larger than expected. The politeness is not carried by "waa" itself but by what follows, as in "Waa, that is wonderful."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- surprise
- admiration
- immediate reaction

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken expression
- reaction expression
- interjection

Adding "o" to "hazukashii" makes it polite?

失礼しました。これはこれは、お恥かし^{はず}しい。

Shitsurei shimashita. Kore wa kore wa, ohazukashii.

I sincerely apologize. This is a serious failure on my part.

Variants

- これはこれは、お恥かし^{はず}しい。

Well, this is embarrassing.

- お恥かし^{はず}しいです。

How embarrassing.

Adjusted Expression

失礼^{しつれい}いたしました。お恥^はずかしいところをお見^みせしてしまいました。

I sincerely apologize for having shown such a serious lapse on my part.

Example

A 「失礼^{しつれい}しました。これはこれは、お恥^はずかしい」

A: I sincerely apologize. This is a serious failure on my part.

Notes

It is rare to directly say the word "hazukashii," which means "embarrassing," in Japanese. However, when you make a trivial mistake or a minor error, you may say this phrase with a light apology such as "shitsurei shimashita," which means "I'm sorry." When you utter this phrase, it is polite and has a relaxing effect on the conversation. If you can respond beautifully like this, no one will think of you as an "embarrassing person," but rather as a person with very worldly common sense.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- light apology
- easing the atmosphere
- reaction to a mistake

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- polite expression
- interaction-adjusting expression

What a Relief

ほっとした。

Hotto shita.

What a relief.

Variants

- ほっとした。
What a relief.
- ほっとしました。
I'm relieved.
- ひとまず、ほっとした。
That's a relief.

Adjusted Expression

ひとまず、ほっとしました。

For now, that's a relief.

Example

A 「^{しけん}試験、^{ぜんぶ}全部、^お終わって、ほっとした」

A: All the exams are over. What a relief.

Notes

The phrase "hotto shita" is used to express relief. It is used to indicate that something has ended or been resolved. However, is there really anything to be relieved about? When one exam is over, there is another exam. When you find out that a girl you had feelings for likes you too, you may feel relieved at that moment, but after you find out that you both like each other, the excitement and tenderness you felt before may become weaker.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- relief
- release from tension
- reaction to an event

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken expression
- emotional expression
- reaction expression

Really?

ほんとう 本当ですかあ？

Hontou desu kaa?

Really?

Variants

- 本当ですか？
Really?
- ほんとうですか？
Is that true?
- 本当なの？
Are you sure?
- 本当？

Adjusted Expression

ほんとう 本当ですか。

Is that true?

Example

A 「明日、雨が降るって言ってたよ」 B 「ほんとう 本当に晴れているのに」

A: They said it will rain tomorrow. B: Really? But it's so sunny today.

Notes

"Hontou desu kaa?" is a reaction used when the speaker cannot immediately accept what someone has just said. It is not only a request for confirmation; it also carries surprise or slight doubt. The lengthened "kaa" makes the reaction sound more unexpected than a plain "Hontou desu ka?" For formal confirmation, it is better not to stretch the ending.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

surprise

doubt confirmation

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

reaction expression

confirmation expression

I'm not so sure.

そうかなあ？【^{なっとく}納得いかないけど】

Sou kanaa? (Nattoku ikanai kedo)

I'm not so sure. (I'm not convinced.)

Variants

- そうかなあ？

I'm not so sure.

- そうですかね。

Really?

- そうかな。

I wonder about that.

- そうかなあ。

I'm not convinced.

Adjusted Expression

そうでしょうか。^{わたし}私は少し^{ちが}違うと^{おも}思います。

I'm not sure that is right. I see it a little differently.

Example

A 「これ、おいしいね」 B 「そうかなあ？ 私はあまりそう思わないけど」

A: This is delicious. B: I'm not so sure. I don't really think so.

Notes

"Sou kanaa?" is used when you cannot immediately agree with what someone has said. It is not a strong denial, but it does show that you are not convinced. When you disagree with someone, strongly saying no right away is not always wise. But saying "yes" when you do not agree is not a good idea either, because you may sound like a person who agrees with everything. In that kind of situation, saying "sou kanaa" quietly lets you show a little doubt without breaking the relationship.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

doubt disagreement

soft disagreement

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

disagreement expression

reaction expression

Yay!

やったあ！

Yattaa!

Yay!

Variants

- やった！

Yay!

- やりました！

I did it!

-

We made it!

Adjusted Expression

やりました。

I did it.

Example

A 「しけん試験、ごうかく合格したよ」 B 「やったあ！」

A: I passed the exam. B: Yay!

Notes

"Yattaa" is a joyful reaction used when something has gone well or when you hear good news. You can use it for your own success, and you can also use it when sharing someone else's happiness. Because it is a spoken expression of joy, the situation matters. If you say it loudly or too often, you may sound too eager to show your feelings. Also, when you are happy, someone nearby may not be in a position to celebrate in the same way.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- achievement
- joy
- reaction to success

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- emotional expression

That's not fair!

それはないでしょう！

sorewanai deshō!

That's not fair!

Variants

- それはないでしょう！
That's not fair!
- それはないよ。
Come on, that's not right.
- それはひどいよ。
That's too much!

Adjusted Expression

それは少しひどいと思います。

I think that's a bit unfair.

Example

A 「お菓子、全部、食べちゃった」 B 「それはないでしょう！」

A: I ate all the sweets. B: That's not fair!

Notes

The phrase "sorewanai deshō" is used to express unfairness or injustice. It is used to raise your voice to express dissatisfaction or objection. If you use this expression too much, people around you may think you are always dissatisfied.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- dissatisfaction
- objection
- reaction to unfairness

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- disagreement expression
- reaction expression

It helps me a lot!

ほんとう たす 本当に助かります！

hontouni tasukarimasu!

It helps me a lot!

Variants

- 助かります。
That really helps me.
- 本当に助かりました。
That helped me a lot.

Adjusted Expression

たいへん たす 大変助かります。

That is very helpful.

Example

A 「^{てつだ}手伝いましょうか？」 B 「^{ほんとう たす}本当に助かります！」

A: Can I help you? B: That really helps me!

Notes

The phrase "hontouni tasukarimasu" is used to express gratitude when someone will do or has done something for you.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

gratitude relief reaction to help

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- gratitude expression
- reaction expression

Sorry I couldn't do it well.

ごめんね、うまくできなくて。

Gomen ne, umaku dekinakute.

I'm sorry I couldn't do it well.

Variants

- ごめんね、うまくできなくて。
I'm sorry I couldn't do it well.
- ごめん、うまくできなくて。
Sorry I messed it up.
- ごめんなさい、うまくできなくて。
I'm sorry it didn't turn out well.

Adjusted Expression

もう わけ
申し訳ありません、うまくできなくて。

I'm sorry I wasn't able to do it well.

Example

A 「りょうり料理、しっぱい失敗しちゃった。ごめんね、うまくできなくて」

A: I messed up the cooking. I'm sorry I couldn't do it well.

Notes

The phrase "gomen ne, umaku dekinakute" is used to express an apology for not being able to do something well.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

apology reaction to failure soft expression

Tags EN

immediate grammar spoken apology expression failure expression

Hobbies

しゅみ なん 趣味は何ですか？

Shumi wa nan desu ka?

What is your hobby?

Variants

- 趣味は何ですか？
What is your hobby?
- ご趣味は何ですか？
What are your hobbies?

Adjusted Expression

しゅみ なん
ご趣味は何ですか？

What are your hobbies?

Example

A 「しゅみ なん 趣味は何ですか？」 B 「おんがく き 音楽を聴くことです」

A: What is your hobby? B: Listening to music.

Notes

The phrase "shumi wa nan desu ka?" is used to ask someone what their hobby is.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

question

starting a conversation

interest in the other person

Tags EN

- formulaic expression
- spoken
- question expression
- conversation expression

How about it?

いかがですか？

Ikaga desu ka?

How about it?

Variants

- いかがですか？

How about it?

- いかがでしょうか？

Would you like it?

-

What do you think?

Adjusted Expression

いかがでしょうか？

Would you like it?

Example

A 「た な か せんせい 田中先生、わたし 私は、これを^た食べてみたいのですが、せんせい 先生もいかがですか？」

A: Professor Tanaka, I would like to try this. How about you?

Notes

The phrase "ikagadesuka?" is used to suggest something to someone. It is a polite expression that is often used when you want to propose something to someone. In Japanese, it is generally considered rude to ask someone's feelings or intentions without using honorific language.

However, since there are various forms of honorific language, it is troublesome to remember or pronounce them. Therefore, if you express your intentions in advance and then say "ikagadesuka?", you can ask politely without using honorific language.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- suggestion
- offering
- polite inquiry

Tags EN

- formulaic expression
- spoken
- suggestion expression
- polite expression

Is that so?

そうなんですか？

Sounandesuka?

Is that so?

Variants

- そうなんですか？

Is that so?

- そうなんですか。

Really?

- そうなんですね。

Oh, is that so?

Adjusted Expression

そうなのですか？

Is that so?

Example

A 「うちの子、もう^{ことし}今年、^{しょうがっこう}小学校に^{にゅうがく}入学するんですよ」 B 「そうなんですか？」

A: My child is entering elementary school this year. B: Is that so?

Notes

The phrase "sounandesuka?" is used as an interjection to express surprise or doubt. It is used not so much to confirm whether something is true, but to show a little surprise and to express that you have received the information with interest or even joy. On the other hand, when expressing doubt, raise the end of the phrase and pronounce it a little longer. The meaning changes significantly depending on how you pronounce it.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- surprise
- backchannel response
- doubt

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- backchannel expression

That's it!

ええ、それです。

Ee, sore desu.

That's it!

Variants

- ええ、それです。

That's it!

- あ、それです。

Yes, that's it.

- それぞれ。

That's the one.

Adjusted Expression

ええ、それが^{せいかい}正解です。

Yes, that's the correct answer.

Example

A 「^{きのう}昨日^い行った^かカフェ^ふの名^え前^な、何^{なん}だった^っけ？」 B 「^{ぶるー}ブルー^{じゃ}じゃな^かった？」

A 「ええ、それです！」

A: What was the name of the cafe we went to yesterday? B: Wasn't it Blue? A: That's it!

Notes

The phrase "ee, sore desu" is used to agree when someone tells you the answer to something you cannot remember. It can also be used when someone finds what you were looking for and you acknowledge that it is indeed what you were looking for. It is a combination of simple words such as "ee," "sore," and "desu," but if you do not observe Japanese conversations well, you may not realize that you can express it with such simple words. Such expressions are called idioms. If you can use idioms, you can naturally learn how to speak.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- confirmation
- agreement
- successful recall

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- confirmation expression
- reaction expression

Better that way

ほう その方が...

Sono hou ga...

That might be better...

Variants

- その方が...
ほう

That might be better...

- そうした方が...
ほう

It may be better that way...

- その方がいいかもね。
ほう

Maybe that's the better option...

Adjusted Expression

そうした方がよいと思います。

I think it would be better that way.

Example

A 「やっぱり、全部^{ぜんぶ}手作業^{てさぎょう}でやります」 B 「ええ、たしかに時間^{じかん}はかかるけど、その方が...」

A: I'll do it all by hand after all. B: Yes, it certainly takes time, but that might be better..

Notes

The phrase "sono hou ga..." is an expression that suggests something might be better, even if it is not the perfect choice. If you say it without leaving it unfinished, it would mean something like "It may be better to do it that way," but ending the sentence midway shows a willingness to respect the other person's decision without explicitly stating everything. This subtlety creates politeness and consideration.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

suggestion

indirect advice consideration

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

indirect expression considerate expression

elliptical expression

What a waste.

もったいない。

mottainai.

What a waste.

Variants

- もったいない。

What a waste.

- ^{じかん}時間^ももったいない。

That's a waste of time.

- それはもったいない。

It would be a waste.

Adjusted Expression

それは無^む駄^だになってしまうので、もったいないです。

That would be a waste, so it would be better not to do that.

Example

A 「携^{けいたい}帯^みを見ていたのでは、時^じ間^{かん}がもったいないので、宿^{しゅく}題^{だい}をしてしまいました よう」

A: If we keep looking at our phones, it will be a waste of time, so let's get our homework done.

Notes

The phrase "mottainai" is used to express regret or disappointment that something is wasted. It is used to indicate that something is wasted or not used effectively. It is often used when you see someone throwing away food or when you see someone not using something that is still useful. It is also used when you see someone not using their abilities effectively.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- reaction to waste
- regret
- warning

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression
- value-judgment expression

Long time no see!

ひさ お久しぶりです。

Ohisashiburi desu.

Long time no see!

Variants

- お^{ひさ}久しぶりです。

Long time no see!

- お^{ひさ}久しぶりですね。

It's been a while.

- ご^ぶ無^さ汰^たしております。

I haven't seen you in a long time.

Adjusted Expression

ご^ぶ無^さ汰^たしております。

It has been a long time since we last met.

Example

A 「お^{ひさ}久しぶりですね」

A: Long time no see!

Notes

The phrase "ohisashiburi desu" is a polite expression used when you meet someone you have not seen in a long time. It can be used when you meet a friend you have not seen since you graduated from school, or a colleague you have not seen since you changed jobs.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- greeting on meeting again
- polite opening
- expression of familiarity

Tags EN

- formulaic expression
- spoken
- greeting expression
- reunion expression

Thank you for taking care of me!

せ わ お世話になりました。

Osewa ni narimashita.

Thank you for taking care of me!

Variants

- お世話になりました。

Thank you for taking care of me.

- いろいろお世話になりました。

Thank you for all your help.

- 大変お世話になりました。

Thank you very much for your support.

Adjusted Expression

大変お世話になりました。

Thank you very much for all your support.

Example

A 「^{きょう}今日は、お^{せ わ}世話になりました」

A: Thank you for taking care of me today.

Notes

The phrase "osewa ni narimashita" is a polite expression used to express gratitude for the care and support you have received.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- gratitude
- parting greeting
- polite expression

Tags EN

- formulaic expression
- spoken
- gratitude expression
- greeting expression

I came here from far away.

はるばる き 遥々やって来ました。

Harubaru yatte kimashita.

I came here from far away.

Variants

- はるばる き
• 遥々やって来ました。

I came here from far away.

- はるばる き
• 遥々来ました。

I came all the way here.

- とお き
• 遠くから来ました。

I came from a long way away.

Adjusted Expression

えんぼう まい 遠方から参りました。

I have come from far away.

Example

A 「はるばる き
遥々やって来ました」

A: I came here from far away.

Notes

The phrase "harubaru yatte kimashita" is used to express that you have come from a long distance. The point is to use "yatte" before "kimashita" to express that you have come from far away. When you use this expression after coming from a place that is not so far away, it will naturally be taken as ironic.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- arrival from far away
- emphasis on distance
- light greeting

Tags EN

- lexical expression
- spoken
- arrival expression
- emphatic expression

By chance

たまたまですよ。

Tamatama desu yo.

It's just a coincidence.

Variants

- たまたまですよ。
It's just a coincidence.
- たまたまです。
It just happened that way.
- たまたまうまくいっただけです。
I just happened to do well this time.

Adjusted Expression

たまたまうまくいっただけです。

I just happened to do well this time.

Example

A 「試験^{しけん}、いい点数^{てんすう}がとれましたね」 B 「たまたまですよ」

A: You got a good score on the exam. B: It's just a coincidence.

Notes

The phrase "tamatama desu yo" is used to express that something happened by chance. However, as in this example, when you are praised for something, you can show a humble attitude by saying that it happened by chance, even if it was actually the result of your effort. It is perfectly fine to think in your heart that the result really came from your own ability and effort.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- explaining chance
- humility
- response to praise

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- humility expression
- response expression

After a little while

ちよつと^お落ち^っ着いてから

Chotto ochitsuite kara

After a little while

Variants

- ちよつと^お落ち^っ着いてから

After a little while

- 少し^お落ち^っ着いてから

After I settle down a bit

- ちよつとしてから

After a short while

Adjusted Expression

^{すこ}少し^お落ち^っ着いてからにしましょう。

Let's do it after I settle down a little.

Example

A 「すぐに^た食べましょうか？」 B 「いえ、ちよつと^お落ち^っ着いてから…」

A: Shall we eat right away? B: No, after I settle down a bit first...

Notes

The phrase "chotto ochitsuite kara" is used when you want to take a break after returning from going out. It can be used when you want to take a break after returning from going out, such as changing clothes, organizing your belongings, or taking a break. If you simply say "I want to take a break," the person you are talking to may want to know the reason or time you want to take a break.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- asking for a little time
- soft postponement
- adjusting the situation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- postponement expression
- interaction-adjusting expression

One thing at a time

ひとつずつ

Hitotsuzutsu

One thing at a time

Variants

- ひとつずつ

One thing at a time

- ^{ひと}一つずつ

One by one

- ^{ひと}一つ^{ひと}一つ

One at a time

Adjusted Expression

ひとつずつ^{かくにん}確認しながら、^{かたづ}片付けていきます。

I will deal with them one by one while checking each one carefully.

Example

A 「^{なに}何か^{てつだ}手伝いましょうか？」 B 「いえ、^{だいじょうぶ}大丈夫です。ひとつずつ、^{かたづ}片付けていきます」

A: Can I help you with something? B: No, I'm fine. I will clean things up one thing at a time.

Notes

The phrase "hitotsuzutsu" is used to express that you are doing things one by one. Doing things one by one is a basic idea in situations such as cleaning up a room, organizing your belongings, or carrying out work. When you say you do things one by one, it may also include the meaning of checking each one and doing it carefully and reliably.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- step-by-step handling
- showing reassurance
- stating a way of proceeding

Tags EN

- lexical expression
- spoken
- order expression
- work expression

Do you want something?

なに ほ 何か欲しいもの、ある？

Nanika hoshii mono, aru?

Do you want something?

Variants

- なに ほ
何か欲しいもの、ある？

Do you want something?

- 何かいる？

Do you need something?

- ほ 欲しいものある？

Is there anything you want?

Adjusted Expression

なに ほ 何か欲しいものがありますか？

Is there anything you would like?

Example

A 「なに ほ
何か欲しいもの、ある？」 B 「いえ、だいじょうぶ 大丈夫です」

A: Do you want something? B: No, I'm fine.

Notes

The phrase "nanika hoshii mono aru?" is used when you want to ask if someone wants something, such as food, drink, or a gift. Please note that it is "nanika" not "nani ga".

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- offering
- consideration
- confirmation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- considerate expression
- offering expression

Wanna go see it?

み い 見に行く？

Mi ni iku?

Wanna go see it?

Variants

- み い
• 見に行く？

Wanna go see it?

- え い が み い
• 映画、見に行く？

Wanna go see a movie?

- み い
• 見に行かない？

Do you want to go see it?

Adjusted Expression

み い 見に行きませんか？

Would you like to go see it?

Example

A 「え い が み い
映画、見に行く？」 B 「うん、行く」

A: Wanna go see a movie? B: Yeah, I do.

Notes

The phrase "mi ni iku?" uses the particle "ni" to express the purpose of the action. Before the particle "ni," a noun or the continuative form of a verb is used. This expression can work both as an invitation and as a way of asking about someone's plans. Because it is not a fully explicit invitation, it is convenient. If you want to invite someone more politely, you can say "mi ni ikimasen ka?". However, if you are refused, it may feel awkward, so it is better not to use it unless you are fairly confident. An intermediate question like "mi ni iku?" lets you change your next move depending on the other person's reaction. If the other person says, "I'm not going," you can answer, "I am," and it becomes a question about plans rather than a direct invitation.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

invitation checking plans prompting

Tags EN

immediate grammar spoken invitation expression plan-checking expression

Let's go!

い 行こう！

Ikou!

Let's go!

Variants

- 行こう！

Let's go!

- 食べに行こう！

Let's go eat!

- 飲みに行こう！

Let's go for a drink!

Adjusted Expression

行きましょう

Shall we go?

Example

A 「食べに行こう！」 B 「いいね！」

A: Let's go eat! B: Sounds good!

Notes

The phrase "ikou!" is used to invite someone to go somewhere. In actual pronunciation, the "u" in "ikou" is not pronounced very strongly. Therefore, it may sound like "iko". Also, the "ni" in "tabeni" is not pronounced strongly, so it may sound like "tabeiko". Similarly, expressions such as "nomiiko (let's go for a drink)," "miiko (let's go see it)," and "shiiko (let's go do it)" are often pronounced very simply, so it may be good to get used to it. It is certainly easy to pronounce it shortly, isn't it?

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- invitation
- prompting

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- invitation expression

It's muggy

あつ むし暑い

Mushiatsui

It's muggy

Variants

- むし暑い
It's muggy.
- 蒸し暑い
It's hot and humid.
- 今日はむし暑いね
It's really muggy today.

Adjusted Expression

(今日は)、^{きおん たか}気温が高く、^{しつど たか}湿度も高いですね。

It is hot and humid today.

Example

A 「むし^{あつ}暑いね」 B 「うん、暑^{あつ}いね」

A: It's muggy. B: Yeah, it's hot.

Notes

The phrase "mushiatsui" is a common expression in Japan, often used on hot and humid days. This expression is a compound of "mushi" and "atsui." "Mushi" refers to humidity, and "atsui" means "hot." Since people can manage daily life without using such compound expressions, they can be difficult to master. Unless you consciously try to use them, you may not acquire them easily. However, if you can use them, your speech becomes clearer and more suitable for the situation.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- sharing the weather or physical feeling
- expressing uncomfortable heat
- seasonal conversation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- colloquial
- weather expression
- physical sensation expression
- compound word
- summer

Don't mix them, it's dangerous!

まぜるな、^{きけん}危険！

Mazeruna, kiken!

Don't mix them, it's dangerous!

Variants

- まぜるな危険

Don't mix them, it's dangerous!

- 混ぜるな危険

What a dangerous combination!

- それ、まぜるな危険じゃん

Don't mix those!

Adjusted Expression

(それら)を^{こんごう}混合すると、^{きけん}危険である。

Mixing them is dangerous.

Example

A 「^{ひょうはくざい}漂白剤と^{せんざい}洗剤を^ま混ぜたら、^{きけん}危険ですよ」 B 「えっ、それ、まぜるな、^{きけん}危険じゃん」

A: If you mix bleach and detergent, it's dangerous. B: What? That's a dangerous combination! Don't mix them!

Notes

The phrase "mazeruna, kiken!" is used to warn that mixing certain things is dangerous. It is commonly used when telling someone not to combine things that should not be mixed. Bottles of chlorine bleach often have warnings like "Do not mix" on them. This phrase is also used humorously, for example, when two things make a striking or risky combination: "What? That combination is dangerous! Don't mix them!"

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

warning of danger

calling attention

emphatic expression used humorously

Tags EN

immediate grammar

formulaic expression

colloquial

warning expression caution

humor

The first impression

だいいちいんしょう 第一印象

Daiichiinshou

The first impression

Variants

- 第一印象
the first impression
- 第一印象がいい make a good first impression
- 第一印象では
at first impression

Adjusted Expression

さいしょ^うに^{いんしょう}受けた印象は、^{ごみばこ}ゴミ箱がないということだった。

My initial impression was that there were no trash cans.

Example

A 「日本^{にほん}はどうですか」 B 「ゴミ箱^{ごみばこ}がないというのが第一印象^{だいいちいんしょう}ですね」

A: How is Japan? B: My first impression was that there are no trash cans.

Notes

The phrase "daiichiinshou" is a compound word formed from "daiichi" and "inshou." In this case, you can also say "daiichi no inshou," but not all combinations of words are used as compounds. For example, there is no commonly used word like "dainiinshou" ("second impression"), so you need to say "nibanme no inshou." Grammar can be helpful, but rules do not apply in all cases, so it is better to use expressions that are actually used.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- expressing an initial impression
- sharing a first evaluation
- describing the beginning of an experience

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- noun
- compound word
- evaluative expression
- describing experience

Don't push yourself

む り 無理はしない

Muri wa shinai

Don't push yourself

Variants

- 無理はしない
Don't push yourself
- 無理しない
Don't overdo it
- 無理はしないで
Take it easy

Adjusted Expression

たいちょう わる む り
体調が悪いのだから、無理をしないほうがよい。

Since you are not feeling well, you should not overexert yourself.

Example

A 「明日、試験があるけれども、熱があるんだから、無理はしない」

A: You have an exam tomorrow, but since you have a fever, don't push yourself.

Notes

The word "muri" refers to situations where you try to do something beyond your capacity. For example, studying for an exam without taking proper rest when you are sick, or trying to treat a girl when you do not have enough money.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

showing concern for someone telling someone not to overdo it showing consideration for someone's condition or situation

Tags EN

immediate grammar colloquial considerate expression advice health concern

I want to relax.

のんびりしたいね。

Nonbirishitai ne.

I want to relax.

Variants

- のんびりしたいね。
I want to relax.
- 今日はのんびりしたいね。
I want to take it easy today.
- 何もしないでのんびりしたいね。
I just want to relax and do nothing today.

Adjusted Expression

すこ 少しゆっくりしたいですね。

I'd like to relax a little.

Example

A 「きょう今日は、なに何もしないで、のんびりしたいね」

A: I just want to relax and do nothing today.

Notes

The word "nonbiri" is an adverb that expresses a relaxed and leisurely state. It is used before a verb to describe doing something in a relaxed way. It can be used in expressions such as "nonbiri suru (to relax),"

"nonbiri shitai (want to relax)," "nonbiri shiyō (let's relax)," and
"nonbiri kurasu (to live a leisurely life)."

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

sharing a feeling sharing a wish expression of relaxation

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

expression of desire

expression of relaxation

Crowded trains are tough.

まんいでんしゃ つら
満員電車は辛い

Man'in densha wa tsurai.

Crowded trains are tough.

Variants

- 満員電車は辛い
Crowded trains are tough.
- 満員電車、辛いよね
Crowded trains are really tough.
- 満員電車は本当に辛い
Rush hour trains are tough.

Adjusted Expression

満員電車は大変ですね。

Crowded trains are difficult, aren't they?

Example

A 「まんいでんしゃ つら
満員電車は辛い」

A: Crowded trains are tough.

Notes

The expression "man'in densha" is a compound made from "man'in" (full) and "densha" (train), referring to a crowded train. The adjective "tsurai" expresses a physically or emotionally difficult situation. It is often used to describe something that is hard to endure, such as "tsurai shigoto" (a tough job) or "tsurai jikan" (a difficult time).

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- expressing evaluation
- sharing empathy
- expressing discomfort

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- expression of evaluation
- expression of discomfort

Sort of...

まあ、なんとなく。

Maa nantonaku.

Well, sort of.

Variants

- まあ、なんとなく。

Well, sort of.

- なんとなく。

Sort of.

- まあ、なんかそんな感じ。

Well, kind of.

Adjusted Expression

とく り ゆ う特に理由はないんですが、おもなんとなくそう思います。

I don't have a clear reason, but I kind of feel that way.

Example

A 「なに た何か食べたいな」 B 「じゃあ、なに た何か食べる？」 A 「カレーライス？」 B 「なぜ？」 A 「まあ、なんとなく」

A: I want to eat something. B: Then, do you want to eat? A: Curry rice? B: Why? A: Well, sort of.

Notes

The phrase "maa nantonaku" is used when you do not have a clear reason for something. It is often used when you cannot explain why even if you are asked. It is more natural to say "nantonaku" briefly than to give a full explanation like "I feel that way." Other expressions include "maa, nantonaku wakarimasu" (Well, I kind of understand), "maa, nantonaku sou omoimasu" (Well, I kind of think so), and "maa, nantonaku sonna ki ga suru" (Well, I kind of feel that way).

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- avoiding giving a reason
- vague response
- expressing a feeling

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- vague expression
- response expression

What the heck!

なんてこった。

Nante kotta.

What the heck!

Variants

- なんてこった。
What the heck!
- なんてこったよ。
What on earth!
- なんてことだ。
What the hell!

Adjusted Expression

それは大変ですね。

That sounds serious.

Example

A 「^{きのう}昨日、^{きゅう}急に^{ぱそこん}パソコンが^{こわ}壊れちゃって、^{でーた}データが^{ぜんぶ}全部^き消えたんだ」 B 「なん
てこった！^{しゅうり}修理できるの？」

A: Yesterday, my computer suddenly broke down and all the data disappeared. B: What the heck! Can it be repaired?

Notes

The phrase "nante kotta" expresses surprise or confusion. It is used when something unexpected happens, especially in troublesome situations. It can sometimes be used for positive surprises as well, but it is more commonly associated with trouble or shock.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- expressing surprise
- expressing confusion
- exclamation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- exclamatory expression

That's not true.

そんなことない

Sonna koto nai.

That's not true.

Variants

- そんなことない
That's not true.
- そんなことないよ
No, that's not true.
- そんなことないって
That's not the case.

Adjusted Expression

そんなことはありません。

That's not the case.

Example

A 「今日のプレゼン、うまくいかなかった気がする。」 B 「そんなことない、ちゃんと伝わってたよ」

A: I don't think today's presentation went well. B: That's not true, it came across well.

Notes

The phrase "sonna koto nai" is used to deny what the other person has said, often to encourage them. It is commonly used when someone downplays their own performance or ability, and the speaker responds by rejecting that negative evaluation.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- denial
- encouragement
- rejecting an evaluation

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- expression of denial
- expression of encouragement

I knew it.

やっぱり

Yappari.

I knew it.

Variants

- やっぱり

I knew it.

- やっぱりね

See?

- やっぱりそうか

Just as I thought.

Adjusted Expression

やはりそうですね。

That is as expected.

Example

A 「^{あめ}雨^ふが降ってきた」 B 「やっぱり」

A: It's raining. B: I knew it.

Notes

The phrase "yappari" is used when something turns out as expected. It often expresses the speaker's feeling of confirmation or realization when what they anticipated actually happens.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- confirming an expectation
- showing realization
- light agreement

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- reaction expression

I see.

なるほど

Naruhodo.

I see.

Variants

- なるほど

I see.

- なるほどね

That makes sense.

- なるほどなるほど

I see, I see.

Adjusted Expression

なるほど、そういうことですね。

I see, that's what you mean.

Example

A 「最近、趣味で絵を描き始めたんだ」 B 「なるほど、それでいつも楽しそうなんだ」

A: I recently started drawing pictures as a hobby. B: I see, that's why you always look happy.

Notes

The phrase "naruhodo" is used to express that you understand the other person's explanation. It is used after hearing a specific explanation from the other person. It is a natural expression that can be used even in short conversations. However, just because someone uses this expression does not necessarily mean that they really understand. Some of my former students used this expression even when they did not actually understand. Still, that does not mean it was meaningless. Even without full understanding, they may have been using "naruhodo naruhodo" as a strategy to encourage the other person to continue speaking. In that sense, it may have functioned as a strategy for promoting smooth conversation.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

showing understanding showing agreement

promoting conversation

Tags EN

immediate grammar

spoken

backchannel expression

conversation strategy

Take care

き 気をつけて

Ki o tsukete.

Take care.

Variants

- 気をつけて
Take care.
- 気をつけてね
Be careful.
- 帰り道、気をつけてね
Take care on your way home.

Adjusted Expression

き かえ お気をつけてお帰りください。

Please take care on your way home.

Example

A 「かえ 帰り道、き 気をつけてね」

A: Take care on your way home.

Notes

The phrase "ki o tsukete" is used to tell someone to be careful. It often expresses concern or care for the other person, especially when they are leaving or about to do something that may involve some risk.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- urging caution
- showing care
- parting expression

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- expression of care

I'm hooked.

はまっちゃった

Hamacchatta.

I'm hooked.

Variants

- はまっちゃった
I'm hooked.
- 最近、はまっちゃった
I've gotten hooked on it.
- すっかりはまっちゃった
I'm really into it.

Adjusted Expression

最近、それに夢中になっています。

I've recently become really interested in it.

Example

A 「^{さいきん}最近、^{まんが}漫画にはまっちゃった」

A: I've gotten hooked on manga recently.

Notes

The phrase "hamacchatta" is used to express that you have become really into something, such as a hobby, game, or TV show. It often has a casual and lively feeling.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- expressing enthusiasm
- sharing a recent state
- expressing a feeling

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- expression of being into something

I'm back.

ただいま

Tadaima.

I'm back.

Variants

- ただいま
I'm back.
- ただいまー
I'm home.

Adjusted Expression

ただいま戻りました。

I have just returned.

Example

A 「ただいま」 B 「おかえり」

A: I'm back. B: Welcome back.

Notes

The phrase "tadaima" is used when you return home or to your workplace. However, "tadaima" has two meanings. One is the greeting in the example above, and the other is "right now" or "at this moment," as in "I will do it right now." The intonation is slightly different. In the latter meaning, the "da" is pronounced a little higher.

Intent / Tags

Intent EN

- returning greeting
- announcing one's return

Tags EN

- immediate grammar
- spoken
- greeting expression
- polysemous expression

Colophon

Title	An Expression A Day
Author	Hilofumi Yamamoto, Ph.D.
Range	No. 1-100 / 100 entries
License	Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International (CC BY 4.0)
Source	Generated from AEAD JSON data.